ABOUT THE KING BAUDOUIIN FOUNDATION

The King Baudouin Foundation is an independent public benefit foundation. The mission of the King Baudouin Foundation is clear and at the same time wide-ranging: to help to improve living conditions for the population. In its 1976 Constitution the Foundation is described as "an independent structure that encourages original ideas and sets up new projects." The King Baudouin Foundation supports projects and citizens who are committed to create a better society. In this way we can make a lasting contribution towards greater justice, democracy and respect for diversity. The Foundation works on an independent and pluralistic basis. This is also guaranteed by the diverse backgrounds of our Board of Governors and our 60 staff. We respect diversity and strive towards quality, transparency and integrity. The Foundation focuses on specific themes and is based in Brussels, but also supports projects far beyond the borders of Belgium and Europe. By working together with a range of different organizations we aim to harmonize our own mission as effectively as possible with the efforts made by others.

ABOUT SPARK

Spark develops education and entrepreneurship so that young and ambitious people are empowered to lead their post-conflict society into prosperity. We build the capacity of local economic and educational institutions so they can empower their own populations. Spark is an independent non-profit institution and was founded in 1994. It has field offices in Belgrade, Mitrovica, Pristina and Skopje and Spark-supported Business Start-up Centres in Bar, Bitola, Kragujevac, Pristina and Zenica. Our annual budget is over 4.5 million Euro and over 40 staff are employed in the field. Spark's quality management system is ISO 9001:2000 certified with certificate number QSC 554. SPARK cooperates with academic and economic institutions, as well as Ministries of Education, Ministries of Economic Affairs, and a large number of NGOs and student organisations across Europe.

Key principles in our work are: a demand-driven approach that pinpoints the needs and priorities of local beneficiaries; the promotion of local ownership as precondition for sustainability; a society-oriented focus that ultimately benefits society as a whole; the support of long-term cross-regional and international cooperation processes

SPARK has developed projects in various parts of South East Europe, including Bosnia-Herzegovina, Kosovo, FYROM, Montenegro, and Serbia. Since 2004, Afghanistan, Liberia and the Palestinian Territories are the focus of new project ideas. Since 1996, SPARK has initiated and supported regional academic summer universities in Tuzla, Pristina, Mitrovica and in FYROM. In total around 6,000 students from SEE have collected over 300 years of European Study Credits (ECTS). Other projects include, business start-up support for youth, business skills training and employability activities and the introduction of ECTS at universities in Bosnia & Herzegovina and FYROM. In 2009 SPARK will open a European College for Business Administration and Public Administration in Mitrovica. Over the past 10 years, SPARK has built an extensive network including students, professors and university management in the Western Balkans.

PREFACE

Higher education and science will play a crucial role for Western Balkan countries in their accession to and association with the EU. The transition of these countries – many of them new states on their way towards market oriented democracies with strong civil societies – will require a highly qualified workforce and a changed mindset of the population, which needs to develop a new sense of belonging and a spirit of ownership and responsibility.

Education will be the key into developing the resources available to contribute to the integration of local higher education systems into the European Higher Education Area, by increasing both the interest of students from the Western Balkans in studying abroad and the EU to support these students to do so.

A study by the King Baudouin Foundation, 'Student mobility in Western Balkan countries' highlighted the key problems that exist with Western Balkan student mobility into EU member state and EFTA countries. Of the students interviewed that would not consider study abroad, 51% cited insufficient money as a very important reason. Similarly, even when students were considering studying abroad, 62.4% answered that not finding enough money was a big problem.

Students were asked to indicate what aspects could be improved. Of those considering study abroad, 81.4% suggested more scholarships. For students not considering study abroad, 58.6% responded that 'good and sufficient scholarships' was one of the main conditions to consider studying abroad.

In the study the majority of students interviewed would consider applying for a scholarship to study abroad. However, only one in three respondees knew that scholarship opportunities exist. If then asked in detail about European scholarships, less than 10% were aware of any specific European scholarship and mobility scheme. For example, only 2.4% of respondees had sufficient knowledge about the Erasmus or Erasmus Mundus programmes to be able to apply.

Based on these findings, the King Baudouin Foundation undertook research into scholarship opportunities that exist in EU member state and EFTA countries for Western Balkan students. Those research results are presented in this handbook and will later be available for all Western Balkan students as an online tool in late autumn 2009.

The handbook contains available study opportunities for Western Balkan students and aims to better inform students from the Western Balkans about available opportunities, scholarships and stipends. The information provided in this handbook is the result of research conducted within Western Balkan countries and EU Member States. Questionnaires devised by the King Baudouin Foundation, the Czech EU Presidency and SPARK were sent to different Higher Education stakeholders. From March – April 2009 SPARK field office liaison officers in South East Europe conducted interviews and completed the questionnaires. In the process of acquiring information, liaison officers contacted EU Member State Embassies in South East Europe and their respective educational agencies (such as DAAD, British Council, French Cultural Centres, Swedish Institute and Cooperazione Italiana), the Ministries of Education and Science and university international offices in Western Balkan countries, foreign foundations and civil society organisations, higher education institutions in EU Member States and the field offices of the EU Delegation, who founded educational programmes such as Tempus, Erasmus Mundus, Basileus and CEEPUS.

Besides contacting the above mentioned organisations, much information was collected through the websites of NGOs who work with higher education in the Western Balkans. The research results are presented in this handbook and provide an overview of existing scholarships and stipends. This handbook is an attempt to provide complete information about scholarships opportunities for Western Balkan students and researchers in European Union Member State and EFTA countries. This would not have been possible without the great help and support of the Czech Ministry of Education. Therefore, we would like to thank the Czech Ministry of Education for their help with developing the questionnaire and all of the Ministries of Education that took the time to reply to the questionnaire.

This draft handbook should serve as a starting point for discussion at this conference, organized by Czech EU-Presidency. This handbook is the first phase of a project to create an online tool by the end of 2009. The online tool will allow students from South East Europe to browse scholarship opportunities in EU Member State countries by degree level, subject and/or country. The discussions and feedback from this conference will be used to define the final contents of the online tool and its functions.

DISCLAIMER

The information provided in this handbook was compiled from data received in questionnaires completed by contacted institutions and organisations. If information is incomplete or missing, please contact the King Baudouin Foundation or SPARK.

The information of the overall available scholarships by country and total number of scholarships may differ as some scholarships are offered as a consortium of different Universities in more than one country and have therefore been listed as separate scholarships. Furthermore, some scholarships are offered to students from specific Western Balkan countries (e.g. FYROM, Serbia and Montenegro) and have therefore been counted in the overall table as scholarships offered in each country separately.

10.1 ONE-SEMESTER SCHOLARSHIPS FOR UNIVERSITY STUDENTS READING GERMAN STUDIES

Type of scholarship: Study stay

Degree title: /

Study subject: German studies, German as a foreign language, or translation studies

Higher Education Institution: At a state (public) or state-recognized German higher education institutions

Eligible countries: WB

Duration of scholarship: One-semester scholarships are always awarded for the winter semester, run for five months

Number of scholarships available: /

The scholarship is available (academic year): 2008/2009

10.1.1 FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Amount paid: The DAAD pays a monthly award of 650 euros, a one-off start-up grant, a one-off book allowance and, where appropriate, a rent subsidy. As a rule, the scholarship additionally includes certain payments towards health insurance cover in Germany.

Furthermore, the DAAD generally will pay an appropriate flat-rate travel allowance, unless these costs are covered by the home country or by another funding source. The one-semester programme for students reading German studies is run at selected university departments in Germany. These departments provide scholarship holders with a guidance-counseling tutor. The DAAD is responsible for placing scholarship holders at the host higher education institutions, although, as far as possible, the wishes of participants will be taken into consideration.

Type of grant: Monthly allowance

Grant covers: A one-off start-up grant, a one-off book allowance and, where appropriate, a rent subsidy.

10.1.2 APPLICATION AND SELECTION INFORMATION

Applications must be submitted to: The DAAD website www.daad.de/stipendien provides information on the precise deadlines for the submission of applications and on where these applications should be sent. Upon request, this information can also be provided by the German diplomatic and consular representations in your country and by the DAAD regional office responsible for your country. Applications must not be sent direct to DAAD head office in Bonn. The above-mentioned website will also provide the addresses of institutions which you can contact in your home country for further information and advice.

Accompanying documents required with the application: Detailed information on the application papers which need to be submitted can be found on the Application Form for "Research Grants and Study Scholarships" ("Antrag auf ein Forschungs-/Studienstipendium"), which can be obtained on the Internet (www.daad.de/en/form) or from the diplomatic and consular representations of the Federal Republic of Germany, from DAAD Lektors, from the DAAD regional offices or Information and Advice Centres, and from partner organisations. Note on Point 10 of the Application Form: One-semester scholarship holders are not expected to have their own research project. Instead, we request a detailed description of your past studies and of the planned core study areas for the stay in Germany. The DAAD will not consider incomplete applications.

Selection criteria/admission requirements: Applications for DAAD one-semester scholarships are open to excellently-qualified students reading German studies, German as a foreign language or translation studies and who, when they begin the scholarship-supported semester, have successfully completed their second or third academic year. Besides their academic achievements, the most important selection criterion is a convincing presentation of the academic and personal motives for the planned study semester in Germany.

Degree title: MA

Study subject: Study scholarships are awarded to provide foreign graduates of all disciplines with opportunities to complete a postgraduate or Master's degree course. General (all fields of study)

Higher Education Institution: at a state (public) or state-recognised German higher education institution

Eligible countries: WB

Duration of scholarship: between 10 and 24 months. Initially, scholarships are awarded for one academic year and can be extended for students with good study achievements to cover the full length of the chosen degree course.

Number of scholarships available: /

The scholarship is available (academic year): 2009/2010

10.6.1 FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Amount paid: The DAAD will pay a monthly award of 750 euros. As a rule, the scholarship additionally includes certain payments towards health insurance cover in Germany. In addition, the DAAD generally will pay an appropriate flat-rate travel allowance, unless these costs are covered by the home country or by another funding source. Furthermore, the DAAD will pay a study and research allowance and, where appropriate, a rent subsidy and family allowance

Type of grant: Monthly allowance

Grant covers: Accommodation; Travel costs; Health insurance, accident insurance, and personal/private liability insurance. Details can be found in the individual programme descriptions. Furthermore, the DAAD will pay a study and research allowance and, where appropriate, a rent subsidy and family allowance.

10.6.2 APPLICATION AND SELECTION INFORMATION

Applications must be submitted to: The DAAD website www.daad.de/stipendien provides further specific information for applicants from your home country. This information includes the language skills which applicants from your country of origin must meet, any special age-limit regulations which may apply, as well as information on the exact deadlines for the submission of the application papers and on where applications should be sent. Applications must not be sent direct to DAAD head office in Bonn. The above-mentioned website will also provide the addresses of institutions which you can contact in your home country for further information and advice. Information on study opportunities in Germany can be found in German at www.hochschulkompass.hrk.de or in English at www.higher-education-compass.hrk.de

Accompanying documents required with the application: Detailed information on what application papers need to be submitted can be found on the Application Form for "Research Grants and Study Scholarships" ("Antrag auf ein Forschungs-/Studienstipendium"), which can be obtained on the Internet (www.daad.de/en/form) or from the diplomatic and consular representations of the Federal Republic of Germany, from DAAD Lektors, from the DAAD regional offices or Information and Advice Centres, and from partner organisations. The DAAD will not consider incomplete applications.

Selection criteria/admission requirements: Applications for DAAD study scholarships are open to excellently-qualified graduates who, at the latest when they commence their scholarship-supported studies, hold a first degree (Bachelor's, Diplom or comparable academic degree). No more than six years should generally have passed between the time when they gained their degree and the time of this application. Besides previous academic achievements, the most important selection criterion is a convincing presentation of the applicant's academic and personal reasons for the planned study project in Germany. Applications must either include the notification of admission issued by the German host institution for the desired degree course, or, if this is not the case, then the notification of admission must be presented to the DAAD before the scholarship-supported studies begin. The scholarship award letter from the DAAD only becomes effective once the holder has been admitted to studies. If the degree programme includes a several month long stay abroad, funding for this stay abroad will generally only be considered if it takes place in an EU Country (not in the home country) and lasts a maximum of 6 months and covers a maximum of 25% of the scholarship term. Good German language skills - especially for applicants reading arts and humanities disciplines - are generally a requirement for studying in Germany. Exceptions are possible when scholarship holders are enrolled in degree courses which are instructed in English. The DAAD may fund attendance of a German language course at a language school in Germany before the scholarship-supported studies begin. This is free of charge to the scholarship holder. Applicants, who have been resident in Germany for longer than one year at the time of application, cannot be considered.

Age limit: No limits

Accompanying documents required with the application: In principle, the usual conditions and application papers specified in the DAAD application form "Application for a Research Grant/Study Scholarship (Forschungs-/Studienstipendium)" apply to applicants for Master or Magister studies (a) and doctoral programmes (b): Curriculum vitae, research plan or statement of reason for the studies, proof of contact with a German university (only a), confirmation of academic supervision (only b), schedule (only b), two letters of recommendation from local professors or academic supervisors, certified copies of the school leaving certificate, of the Bachelor's or Magister (Master's) degree (Diplom) or, in the case of students in their fourth academic year, a certified copy of their study record book and a DAAD language certificate. The papers and documents for a Master's programme application should include the Admission to Studies application form required by the target degree programme and already completed by the applicant. All copies of certificates and their translations must be officially certified. The health certificate need only be presented after the scholarship has been awarded. The above-mentioned application forms are available from the DAAD website (www.daad.de/en/form) or can be obtained from the diplomatic and consular missions of the Federal Republic of Germany and from the DAAD Lektors.

Selection criteria/admission requirements: Master's or Magister programme (max. 2 years):

Master's or Magister programme- please visit the DAAD website given below for more detailed information divided by courses and cities. Doctorate (3 years): Applicants must hold a second (graduate) academic degree, as a rule, the Magister/Master's. In individual cases, candidates may also be admitted who hold the Diplom after five years of study. In addition, applicants should already be in the first or second year of their doctoral programme.. Their doctoral topic must be confirmed by the Academic Council at their university. When applying, all doctoral candidates must prove that they are already in contact with a possible German academic supervisor. Applications for German PhD programmes in the above-mentioned subject areas are also welcomed.

Age limit: no limits

Deadline for applying: 15 November of the current year

10.8 DAAD RESEARCH GRANTS FOR APPLICANTS FROM MEDICAL FIELDS

Type of scholarship: study and research stays

Degree title: /

Study subject: the DAAD funds study and research stays completed in Germany by young foreign scientists (including from fields such as Human Medicine, Dental Medicine, Veterinary Medicine).

Higher Education Institution: Germany

Eligible countries: WB

Duration of scholarship: The following projects are funded in the form of non-extendable research grants scheduled to run for up to one year: Continuing clinical training (e.g. as part of the specialist medical training being completed in the home country); Research projects. Stays to collect material for a dissertation/doctoral thesis to be written in the home country or for a publication. The DAAD does not fund complete medical specialisation courses lasting several years in Germany. Extendable research grants are awarded only for purely natural sciences based doctoral programmes or studies in Germany (e.g. leading to Dr. rer. nat. or Dr. rer. medic. degrees).

Number of scholarships available: /

The scholarship is available (academic year): 2008/2009 (the scholarship is offered every year)

10.8.1 FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Amount paid: The total funding term is three years, and in exceptions four years. By contrast, it is not possible to provide more than one year of funding for the purpose of producing a medical dissertation/doctoral thesis (Dr. med., Dr. med. vet., or Dr. med. dent.).

Type of grant: /

Grant covers: /

10.8.2 APPLICATION AND SELECTION INFORMATION

Applications must be submitted to: Grant holders whose research grant is scheduled to run for up to six months must, if they require a licence to practise medicine, already themselves send their application to Germany while they are still in their home country. Please note that the award only comes into effect, which means that the grant can only be taken, once the holder has received permission to practise medicine. Grant holders whose grant is scheduled to run for more than six months must submit the application for a "Permit for the Temporary Practice of Medicine" (Erlaubnis zur vorübergehenden Ausübung des ärztlichen Berufs) via the DAAD. To avoid any unnecessary delays, the required papers and documents must be obtained in the home country before the grant is begun or before any preliminary language course and must be sent to the DAAD in good time. Please note that it may take several weeks before the relevant regional government office issues this permit

10.9 DAAD SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAMMES 2009/2010 RESEARCH GRANTS FOR DOCTORAL CANDIDATES AND YOUNG ACADEMICS AND SCIENTISTS

Type of scholarship: Degree course

Degree title: PhD- research project

Study subject: Research grant to provide young foreign academics and scientists with an opportunity to carry out a research project or a course of continuing education and training at a German state (public) or staterecognised higher education institution or non-university research institute. Research grants can be used to carry out research projects at a German higher education institution for the purpose of gaining a doctorate in the home country (this includes the doctoral programmes offered for developing and transformation countries under the "DAAD Sandwich Model" - see Information Leaflet, which is also available on the Internet www.daad.de/extrainfo)

Higher Education Institution: at a German state (public) or staterecognised higher education institution or non-university research institute.

Eligible countries: WB

Duration of scholarship: grants can be paid generally for between one and ten months, in the case of full doctoral programmes in Germany for up to three years, and in exceptions for up to a maximum of four years.

Number of scholarships available: /

The scholarship is available (academic year): 2008/ 2009 (the scholarship is offered every year)

10.9.1 FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Amount paid: Depending on the award holder's academic level, the DAAD will pay a monthly award of 750 euros (graduates holding a first degree) or 1,000 euros (doctoral candidates). As a rule, the scholarship additionally includes certain payments towards health insurance cover in Germany. Furthermore, the DAAD generally will pay an appropriate flat-rate travel allowance, unless these costs are covered by the home country or by another funding source. Award holders completing a stay of more than six months receive a study and research allowance plus, where appropriate, a rent subsidy and family allowance. Funding for attendance of a language course is decided on a case-by-case basis (cf. Requirements). When award holders take doctoral programmes run under the "DAAD Sandwich Model", then the award may include the travel expenses of an academic supervisor - as long as this was already applied for in the first application.

Type of grant: monthly allowance

Grant covers: Travel costs

10.9.2 APPLICATION AND SELECTION INFORMATION

Applications must be submitted to: The DAAD website www.daad.de/stipendien provides further specific information for applicants from your home country. This information includes the language skills which applicants from your country of origin must meet, as well as information on the exact deadlines for the submission of the application papers and on where applications should be sent. Applications must not be sent direct to DAAD head office in Bonn. The above-mentioned website will also provide the addresses of institutions which you can contact in your home country for further information and advice.

Accompanying documents required with the application: Detailed information on what application papers need to be submitted can be found on the Application Form for "Research Grants and Study Scholarships" ("Antrag auf ein Forschungs-/Studienstipendium"), which can be obtained on the Internet (www.daad.de/en/form) or from the diplomatic and consular representations of the Federal Republic of Germany, from DAAD Lektors, from the DAAD regional offices or Information and Advice Centres, and from partner organisations. The DAAD will not consider incomplete applications.

Selection criteria/admission requirements: Applications for DAAD research grants are open to excellently-qualified university graduates who hold a Diplom or Master's degree at the time they commence the grant-supported research and, in exceptional cases, graduates holding a Bachelor's degree or already holding a doctorate/PhD (postdocs). It is required that doctoral candidates wishing to take a doctorate/PhD in their home country will already have been admitted to an appropriate course at their home university. The application papers must generally include written confirmation of academic supervision by a professor in Germany and expressly refer to the applicant's project, thereby confirming that the host institute will provide a workplace. If the applicant is planning to complete a doctorate at the German host university, the letter of confirmation must come from the academic supervisor (Doktorvater/Doktormutter) for the applicant's doctoral programme/thesis. Applicants who intend to gain their doctorate within the scope of a structured doctoral study programme are required to present a letter of admission from their study programme or at least proof that they are being considered for admission. Besides previous study achievements, the most important selection criterion is a convincing and wellplanned research or continuing education and training project to be completed during the stay in Germany and which has been coordinated and agreed with an academic supervisor at the chosen German host institute. German language skills are generally required, although the required level also depends on the applicant's project and topic, as well as on the available opportunities for learning German in the applicant's home country. In the natural sciences and in engineering disciplines, in particular, and when English is spoken at the host institute, proof of good English language skills may also be accepted. The DAAD decides on a case-by-case basis whether the applicant can attend a German language course before beginning the research grant (free of charge for the award holder). This option is only available for research grants lasting more than six months. The country-specific information on the DAAD homepage will tell you which language skills are required from applicants from your home country. At the time of application, generally no more than six years should have passed since the graduate gained the last degree; in the case of doctoral students, no more than three years should have passed since starting the doctoral process; and in the case of postdocs, no more than four years should have passed since gaining the doctorate. Depending on the country of origin of applicants, for example, special conditions prevailing in the home country education system, etc., exceptions are possible. The country-specific information on the DAAD homepage will provide you with more detailed information. Applicants, who have been resident in Germany for longer than one year at the time of application, cannot be considered. Special note for medical students: The special leaflet "Additional information on DAAD-researchgrants for applicants from medical fields" provides information on specific requirements (also available on the Internet www.daad.de/extrainfo).

Age limit: no limits

Selection criteria/admission requirements: Proof of English proficiency (paper-based TOEFL-score 620 or higher, IELTS 6,5 or higher). Besides excellent reading and writing skills oral English proficiency is extremely important. An internationally recognized high-quality Master's degree in a field related to the research theme Your present university degree must meet appropriate standards. Keep in mind that the University of Groningen will decide whether your degree will allow you to attend the Ubbo Emmius programme. The Ubbo Emmius student has to be able to read and write English at an academic level. Candidates will be selected on the basis of their academic merits. Students and research need to be a perfect match, therefore admission procedures may vary per Graduate School and each application is assessed on an individual basis. Admission for PhD candidates is highly selective and based on academic merit: your best preparation is successful completion of one of our Graduate School Master's. As only a limited number of scholarships are available, you will have to compete with other students to be invited into the programme. Selection will be based on both the results (grades) and orientation of your (research) Master's education and your motivation. When you pass the selection you will be registered as a RUG PhD student and – together with your promotor- you will design a so-called PhD training plan. This training plan includes information and agreements concerning: Title and description of your research project; Supervision (promotor, daily supervisor, graduate coordinator etc.); Progress of study (evaluation dates, exams). Educational programme (courses, participation in seminars, (inter)national conferences etc.); Time schedule and phasing of your research project including the educational part; Facilities (desk, computer, library etc.). The PhD training plan will be signed by both you and your promotor and will serve as a guiding principle throughout your PhD

PART II:
ERASMUS MUNDUS,
BASILEUS, CEEPUS
and other EU coordinated scholarship initiatives

ERASMUS MUNDUS SCHOLARSHIPS

The Erasmus Mundus programme is a new higher education co-operation and mobility programme designed to promote the European Union as a centre of excellence in learning around the world. Its main objectives consist in strengthening European cooperation and international ties in the sphere of higher education by supporting European top-quality Masters courses.

Students and young researchers from all over the world are offered the opportunity of postgraduate education at European universities. A complete list of programmes, which Russian students and professors can apply for, is available on the websites: www.ec.europa.eu/education/programmes/mundus/projects (in English)

How to apply

Courses at the Masters level are open to graduate students who have already completed a university degree course of at least three years' duration. There are presently no thematic restrictions or favoured subject areas for Erasmus Mundus Masters courses. All fields of study and disciplines are welcome: please look through the list of available Masters courses.

An integrated study programme offered by an Erasmus Mundus Masters consortium has the following features:

Joint criteria for admission and examination: Students should be able to apply to a single programme with common standards for admission, a common application procedure and a joint student selection process. Examinations passed at one institution of the consortium are automatically and fully recognised by the other institutions of the consortium.

Course integration: Provision of a jointly developed curriculum or full recognition by the Erasmus Mundus Masters Consortium of courses developed and taught separately but that make up a single standard course.

Mobility: Students study in at least two of the three institutions participating in the consortium. Potential students must know the sequence of study periods in the various hosting institutions and the various mobility combinations when they apply for the course. In a consortium of three partners (A, B and C), mobility combinations would normally be A+B, A+C, B+C and A+B+C.

Guaranteed award of a recognized joint, double, or multiple degree upon graduation. A double degree is the minimum award. A double or multiple degree is defined as two or more national diplomas issued officially by two or more institutions involved in an integrated study programme. A joint degree is defined as a single diploma issued by at least two of the institutions offering an integrated study programme. The degrees are recognised in the countries where the degree-awarding institutions are located. An Erasmus Mundus Masters course carries between 60 and 120 ECTS credits at the Masters level. 60 to 120 ECTS credits correspond to courses lasting from one to two academic years. Erasmus Mundus Masters courses provide students with the possibility of using at least two European languages - spoken in the countries where the institutions offering the Erasmus Mundus Masters courses are located. However, the use of at least two languages does not mean the courses are taught in two different languages. Nor are the institutions obliged to use their national languages as the language of instruction, although they should have a clearly identifiable policy to promote the national language. This may include language training or other induction courses (e.g. "survival language" and cultural induction) regardless of the language of instruction.

Funding

Student mobility: €21,000 per student for a one-year course (10 study months x €1,600, plus a fixed amount of €5,000 for travel expenses, tuition fees, etc.), or €42,000 per student for a two year course. Grants are paid to students by the individual consortium.

Scholars (academic staff)

If you are a scholar (academic or professional) and you work at a higher education institution or at a research institute you may also contribute to and benefit from Erasmus Mundus.

How to apply

You can apply for a three-month scholarship to carry out scholarly work (teaching and/or research work) for a given Erasmus Mundus Masters course in Europe. You will work in one or more of the higher education institutions running the course of your choice. These scholarships are awarded to the best scholars on a competitive basis. You are invited to choose an Erasmus Mundus Masters course and apply directly to the course of your choice.

Funding

Scholar mobility: €13,000 per scholar (3 months x €4,000, plus a fixed amount of €1,000 for travel expenses). Grants are paid to scholars by the individual consortium. Please note that scholars must provide their own insurance cover.

Deadline for applications

Applicants should submit their applications by the deadline set by the Erasmus Mundus Masters. Consortium they are applying to, using the application system of the Masters course in question and following all the relevant instructions given by the application system. It is necessary also to bear in mind that the consortia need time to make a decision on each grant. Students and scholars are advised to contact the coordinator of the course of their choice with any questions related to the course.

ERASMUS MUNDUS EXTERNAL COOPERATION WINDOW

The Erasmus Mundus External Cooperation Window (EMECW) is a new cooperation and mobility scheme launched by the European Commission for students and academic staff from outside the EU, including Russia. Russian higher education institutions (universities, academies, institutes), legally established, licensed and accredited by the Russian Ministry of Education and Science and/or by the relevant services, can participate in EMECW consortia led by European higher education institutions.

The grants cover:

- a) the organisational costs of mobility of higher education students and academic staff;
- b) the implementation costs of individual mobility of higher education students and academic staff.

Selected Consortia

At present the following three consortia of the EU and Russian universities have been selected to participate in the EMECW:

1. Iamonet-Ru – www.iamonet.de led by the Hohenheim University (Germany)
2. Integration, Interaction and Institutions (Triple I) – www.utu.fi/en/iii led by Turku University (Finland)
3. Multidisciplinary capacity-building for improved economic, political and university cooperation between the European Union and the Russian Federation – http://tu-dresden.de/internationales/news/mundus_lot_russia led by Dresden Technical University (Germany)

Partner Higher Educational Institutions from Russia:

- Irkutsk State Technical University;
- Ufa State Aviation Technical University;
- Tomsk State Pedagogical University;
- Omsk State Transport University;
- North-west (St.Petersburg) Branch of Russian Law Academy;
- State Technological University “Moscow Institute of Steel and Alloys”;
- Lipetsk State Technical University;
- Moscow State University of Railway Engineering;
- South Russia State Technical University;
- Bauman Moscow State Technical University;
- Ural State University of Economics;
- Tomsk Polytechnic University.

How can students and academic staff apply?

Students and academics can apply to the International Departments of the Russian Universities listed above, which also set entry requirements and selection criteria. It is recommended to start application procedures as soon as possible.

Who can apply?

- Undergraduate students who have completed at least two years of study and are set to receive a university degree. Mobility period: from 3 to 10 months. Scholarship: €1,000 per month;
- Students who already possess a first university degree and are currently studying for a Masters degree. Mobility period: from 3 to 22 months. Scholarship: €1,000 per month.

- PhD students (“aspiranty”) currently engaged in study and research leading to the degree of “kandidat nauk”. Scholarship: €1,500 per month;
 - Post PhD researchers already possessing a recognised “kandidat nauk” degree. Mobility period may vary between 6 and 10 months. Scholarship: €1,800 per month;
 - For academic staff, the mobility period may vary between 1 and 3 months. Scholarship: €2,500 per month.
- Individual mobility grants are offered for 2008-2009 academic year starting from 1st September 2008 with the deadline fixed on 1st April 2009.

2.3.2 APPLICATION AND SELECTION INFORMATION

Applications must be submitted to: online: www.imrd.ugent.be/regist.asp?frm=49

Accompanying documents required with the application: Applicants must have a Bachelor's degree of minimum 3 years with good overall scores (at least a second class or equivalent, preferably higher) from a university or recognized equivalent. Candidates are expected to have basic science training (demonstrable in the transcripts) in the following fields: (1) mathematics and/or statistics; (2) agronomy and/or biology and/or environmental sciences and (3) social sciences and/or rural development. Candidates who cannot present a combined training of these fields will be evaluated on their aptitude, based on experience and knowledge of these fields, as demonstrated by CV or other evidence. Sufficient language knowledge proven by language certificates. The applicant must be proficient in the language of the course or training programme, i.e. English. Command of the English language is a very important criterion for admission. With the exception of those who have a diploma (Secondary Education, Academic Bachelor Degree, Master Degree) issued by an institution officially recognized by the Flemish Government, applicants must be able to prove their proficiency in English. See the language section on the left. Applicants generally have a Bachelor's degree or a recognized equivalent academic degree of minimum 3 years study in bioscience engineering or agricultural sciences (preferably agricultural economics), in combination with knowledge in environmental sciences, economics, sociology and rural development studies. Admission decisions are based on a combination of factors, including academic degrees and records, the statement of purpose, letters of recommendation, test scores, language skills and relevant work experience, if any. We also consider the appropriateness of your goals to the IMRD programme. In addition, consideration may be given to how your background and life experience would contribute significantly to an educationally beneficial mix of students.

Selection criteria/admission requirements: The applicant must be proficient in the language of the course or training programme, i.e. English. Command of the English language is a very important criterion for admission. With the exception of those who have a diploma (Secondary Education, Bachelor Degree, Master Degree) issued by an institution officially recognized by the Flemish Government, applicants must be able to prove their proficiency in English. There are 4 possibilities to supply this proof: TOEFL certificate (more information click here), maximum 2 years old with a minimum total score of 550 on the paper based test, or a minimum total score of 79 on an internet based test. IELTS certificate (more information click here) maximum 2 years old with a minimum overall band score of 6. Proof of at least 1 academic year of comprehensive English instruction (all courses of the bachelor or master year in English) at a university or recognized equivalent. Proof of a successful "Intermediate Academic English" test at the Ghent University Language Center (more information click here). Remark: TOEFL/IELTS predictive tests are not acceptable. If you do not have a valid TOEFL or IELTS test (results and test dates as described in the requirements above), you need to add to your application a proof of at least 1 year of academic training in English at university or comparable level. Applications without any proof of English proficiency will not be considered for admission.

Applications must be submitted to: online:

www.basileus.ugent.be/index.asp?p=209&a=209

Accompanying documents required with the application: A copy of the applicant's secondary school diploma; A copy of the applicant's university degree(s) certified by the educational institution and relevant authority(ies); A copy of the applicant's transcript of academic records (of each academic year), certified by the educational institution and relevant authorities. * Note: Once you have been academically selected and are coming to Belgium, legalised copies must be submitted for registration at UGent. If not, you will be obliged to return to your home country (for more explanation concerning certified/legalised, please refer to www.UGent.be/en/teaching/admission/degreestudent/application/legalen.htm); A document explaining the grading system of the applicant's home country or university; A document proving the applicant's proficiency in English (see language requirements below); A complete curriculum vitae; One recent passport picture; Students from the P.R. China have to obtain a certificate of academic screening issued by the Academic Evaluation Center (APS) of the German Embassy in Beijing before being allowed to enrol at any higher education institution. The certificate is also required to obtain a student visa to Belgium. More information on APS can be found at www.aps.org.cn. An APS-attestation is a mandatory document in the application package. SPECIFICALLY FOR VLIR-UOS APPLICANTS: Two letters of recommendation, preferably from (former) academic staff or from the applicant's superiors in his/her work environment. Referee forms are available on the website www.icp-ityp.UGent.be. Other types of reference letters should be written specifically for the ICP you are applying for and should be typed on official stationery with the heading of the referee's institution. Recommendation letters should be included in a sealed and signed envelope; An employer's certificate (if applicable) stating the applicant's present position within the organisation along with a precise description of the applicant's professional responsibilities. The employer should emphasise the importance of the programme for the applicant's position and for the organisation as a whole as well as his/her job prospects when returning to the home country after successful completion of the programme (= re-employment). Documents in English, French and Dutch are accepted. Documents in other languages must be officially translated into English, Dutch or French by a sworn translator.

Selection criteria/admission requirements: Applicants must at least have a Bachelor degree in Zoology, Botany, Biology, Agronomy or any related to these. Also it is a must to have a good knowledge of the English language. It is recommended that candidates have a TOEFL or IELTS certificate or have had their higher education in English. Otherwise they must obtain a certificate from the Language Centre of Ghent University prior to the start of the course. The applicant must be proficient in the language of the course, i.e. English. Command of the English language is a very important criterion for admission. With the exception of those who have a diploma (Secondary Education, Academic Bachelor Degree, Master Degree) issued by an institution officially recognized by the Flemish Government, applicants must be able to prove their proficiency in English. There are 5 possibilities to supply this proof: Proof that your mother tongue is English. TOEFL certificate (the UGent TOEFL code is 2643). For specific details about the minimum total score required: a minimum total score of 550 on the paper based test (PBT), or a minimum total score of 79 on an internet based test (IBT). IELTS with a minimum overall band score of 6. Proof of at least 1 year of comprehensive English-based instruction at a university or recognized equivalent. Proof of a successful "Intermediate Academic English" test at the Ghent University Language Centre (UCT). Nota Bene: TOEFL/IELTS predictive tests are not acceptable. TOEFL/IELTS test validity is max. 2 years. Failing to meet these language criteria results in the inability to register at Ghent University and means you will be sent back home!

Age limit: /
